

THE HOLLYWOOD ALLSTARS NEW YORK ALL-STARS CELEBRITY GAME

On Saturday, August 27th, the world famous Hollywood Allstars Celebrity Softball Team will travel to Long Island to challenge a team of well known New York Celebrity All-Stars in an exciting nine inning Celebrity Game at beautiful 6,000 seat CITIBANK PARK, home of the Long Island Ducks in Central Islip on Long Island. At least 22-24 well-known entertainment personalities will donate their time to attend and or participate in various Celebrity Game activities, which have been scheduled in support of hundreds of Long Island Fire Fighters. Several Long Island Fire Fighters will volunteer in a variety of ways to help raise several thousand dollars for the Burn Center at Stony Brook University Hospital.

This unique team of Hollywood Allstars will feature a combination of Television, Film or Music stars who are better than average athletes and will donate their time a few weekends each year to play fun, but competitive Celebrity Games in Major and Minor League Stadiums throughout North America for many worthwhile charities. In July of 1984, the Hollywood Allstars flew to Edmonton, Alberta and challenged Wayne Gretzky and his team of Stanley Cup Champion Edmonton Oilers. The Hollywood Allstars have played at least 7-8 games against the NFL Super Bowl Champions in their home city. In May of 1994 the Hollywood Allstars challenged a team of INDY 500 drivers as part of the INDY 500 race weekend festivities and the Hollywood Allstars have been the invited guests of two sitting Presidents at the White House.

A few of those celebrities who have confirmed their participation in our Celebrity Game are actors John Callahan who for over 16 years has been seen as Edmund Grey on the hit ABC Soap "All My Children", William Baldwin who has starred in several feature films and grew up on Long Island just a few miles from Central Islip, Tom Cavanagh who entertained us as ED on the popular NBC primetime series "ED", Chris Noth who is known as Mr. Big to millions of "Sex in the City" viewers and will be seen this fall on the NBC hit "Law & Order", Paul Rudd who starred as Phoebe's boyfriend Michael on the NBC primetime hit "Friends", and Jonathan Silverman who has starred in many feature films such as "Weekend at Bernies" on Broadway in "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and in his own NBC hit television series "The Single Guy".
